The following are examples of incorrect parking that can be reported to the enforcement team:

Parking on yellow lines - including adjacent footways and verges

Stopping on zig zag lines by a crossing or outside a school

Parking in a permit bay without a valid permit

Using a disabled bay without a valid Blue Badge

Parking in a loading bay without loading

Stopping in a restricted bus stop or taxi rank parked in a suspended bay parking in a Restricted Parking Zone (except in marked bays) parking on a footway that has parking restriction signs parking for longer than the permitted time in a parking bay parking after the expiry of paid for time parking in a pay and display bay without a valid pay and display ticket or pay by phone session

Not parking correctly within the bay markings

Double parking (More than 50cm from the edge of the carriageway)

Dropped kerb access – driveways, or for pedestrians where tactile paving has been provided

Towing a vehicle

In some circumstances as well as issuing a parking fine, we may also tow the vehicle away.

We may consider this if the vehicle is left on parking restrictions:

- in a dangerous or obstructive manner
- blocking access to disabled bays for Blue Badge holders
- where roadworks are taking place
- We may also remove vehicles where fines have been ignored, ie not paid or unsuccessfully appealed against.
- If a Blue Badge is being misused, the badge may be taken away and a parking fine issued. Drivers could also be prosecuted for misuse of a Blue Badge (with a fine of up to £1000).

Report incorrect parking to the police

The following are examples of incorrect parking that can be reported to the police:

Double white lines

Obstruction – for example, pavements with no parking restrictions

Dangerous parking where there are no restrictions in place, for example, on bends, brows of hills and junctions

one-way traffic

box junctions access only

white-hatched areas

pedestrian crossings (can also be enforced by CEOs)

If you find an example of incorrect parking that is listed above, please call the police on 101 to report it.
